REMARKABLE STORY OF GOOD-WILL

How it enables you to buy delicious Chocolates
at a Phenomenally low price

In order to keep their enormous plant working full time during the summer months the Largest Manufacturers of Chocolate Specialties in the World have produced a new package of delicious Assorted Chocolates which they have named "Good-Will" and which they are putting on the market at less than the actual cost of production, willingly assuming a serious loss in order to avoid throwing any of their workers out of employment.

Our co-operation has been sought and we have gladly agreed to place "Good-Will" Chocolates on sale as a "Saturday Special" at the lowest price at which good Chocolates have ever been sold.

The President of the Company has sent us a sworn affidavit that "Good-Will" Chocolates are absolutely pure and made of identically the same high grade materials as are used in 50c per pound goods.

"Good-Will" Chocolates will be on sale Saturdays only, from now until September 1st, and no customer will be permitted to buy more than 2 boxes at any one time, as we want as many as possible to enjoy this unusual treat.

Better have us reserve one or two boxes for you each week as the quantity we shall offer at this price is strictly limited. Special "Good-Will" price for today.

Last Saturday the response to this advertisement was splendid. We sold out our allotment. We leave the endorsement of the quality entirely with you. A fresh supply today.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT SCOTLAND.
Programme Finely Rendered and Nine Children Were Baptized.

Children's day at Scotland was celebrated with all the earnestness and devotion at the church of which Rev. Martin Lovering is pastor. The songs sung on this occasion were well adapted and the children by earnest and devoted study guided by the superintendent, assisted by Mrs. E. Kimball were well prepared. Among many who acquitted themselves so well it is difficult to single out any for particular mention. Perhaps the secret lay in the lesson presented and the beauty of the words by which the lesson was conveyed. Miss Strickland, by the excellence of her delivery, charmed all, while the group of girls that presented the subject True Builders, made the lesson very effective. While the boys on the topic, Little Builders, presented that truth with power and the five little girls who presented Five Little Birds, left a pleasant impression. The boys seated in a boat and rowing hard presented Life's Journey, with its dangers, in a forcible manner. Many were the expressions of praise for the excellent manner in which all rendered their parts. Great credit is due to those who had charge of the work.

A baptismal service followed, which was very impressive. Nine children were baptized, varying in age from a few months to about ten years. Those who received this sacred rite were: Helen Leone Moffitt, Winifred Anthony Guerin, Mildred Wasson, Louise White, Clarence and John Spencer, Harold, Burton and Albert Kimball.

FOUR GIVEN DIVORCES SOUGHT

Cruelty, Intemperance and Unfaithfulness Were Grounds Upon Which Petitions Were Granted—Briefs Are to be Submitted in Voluntown Case—New London Woman's Husband in Norwich Jail.

Divorce matters at the superior court short calendar session here on Friday were reached at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, beginning with the case of Maurice A. Wilson of New London against Lottie Usher Wilson of the same place. It was brought on the grounds of adultery.

He is an electrician. They were married in Voluntown, N. H., in 1912. On March 4, 1913, the plaintiff testified, about four months after they were married he refused to live with her, he said, because his wife was in a delicate condition, but they lived together again after three weeks, but finally separated some time later. This was because of some things he had learned about his wife and which she admitted. Mr. Wilson told of watching her outside a house in Boston, in May, 1914. He saw his wife come out and meet a man, go for a walk and return. Later a man in an auto came to the house and went in. Late at night, with the police, Mr. Wilson gained admission and found Mrs. Wilson and a man in bed.

Stanley D. Barnes, a merchant of New London, testified that Lottie Usher Wilson's conduct for the past year had been of very doubtful character and the woman she went with. Frank T. Howard, a New London policeman, said that he had seen her often within the past two years with the class of street walkers. James J. Monahan, a chauffeur, testified to having gone to Boston for Mr. Wilson in May, 1914, and he corroborated the husband's statement about finding Mrs. Wilson and a man in the house in Boston.

The divorce was granted on the grounds of adultery, Attorney John C. Geary representing the petitioner. Mrs. Wilson filed a petition for divorce originally and then her husband entered a cross-complaint alleging adultery. It was this latter case that was decided by the court on a decree of divorce. She was a witness in one of the unfavorable cases involving New London people who were in the superior court here this spring.

Made It Miserable for Both.
George W. Macomber, of Voluntown, who was represented by Attorney Thomas M. Shields, said he had been married to Alice M. Macomber, who the plaintiff said was 17 when he married her on January 1, 1910. He sued on the grounds of desertion.

They boarded for a while after their marriage and about 2-3 years after that Mrs. Macomber moved to New London. He testified that she refused to do his housework and that he told her she needn't do that, but that she had better get out and she could suit herself. The next day, she left. She displayed very little interest in the house about getting the meals or taking any care of the house, she testified.

Mrs. Grace Dawley of Voluntown said that Mrs. Macomber had told her she didn't like her husband and she would never live with him and she wanted a home of her own. Mrs. Mary Burch of Voluntown also testified that Mrs. Macomber told her she didn't love her husband and that she wouldn't live with him, but that she would stay in the house. A cousin of the defendant, George E. James, was also a witness, and said that it was very plain that Mrs. Macomber did not love her husband. She avoided him at every opportunity, but Mr. Macomber certainly did his part as a husband in the estimation of the witness.
